PROFIL

For the best solutions I think outside the box and deliver on point

I support companies and their leaders in developing leadership competence and culture. On this common path, I am always pleased to receive the feedback that customers perceive me as a counterpart who really understands them and their needs. As a trusted sparring partner, it is important to me to cultivate a relationship on an equal footing.

To find sustainable solutions with genuine benefits, I show openness in my thinking and absolute focus in my actions. I get to the bottom of things through bold questioning and provide sound advice with regard to content, innovative ideas, and focus on the big picture. To put my expertise into action, I take a very straightforward approach, and show reliability and implementation strength.

Leadership and everything it entails are my passion and the driver of my curiosity. Whether Agile Leadership, Positive Psychology, or "Biohacking" – I use my inquisitiveness to help people and organizations to grow and thrive.
