PROFIL

Sustainable development is close to my heart

With over 15 years of corporate and leadership experience as well as experience as a consultant since 2012, I support companies and managers in the development of leadership concepts and learning designs that focus on transfer into practice and sustainability.

Managers who have come to know me in training and coaching sessions describe me as a precise observer who is structured and methodical on the one hand, and someone who is flexible in his approach on the other hand, always focusing on the participants' topics. It is important to me to convey not only content, but above all tools so that participants are able to develop more consciously and responsibly, and to ensure that the transfer into practice is truly successful.

Supporting people in their development and optimizing development concepts in line with customer needs is a matter close to my heart. This is why I am a project partner at Profil M.
