PROFIL

I create clarity through competence

For over 20 years I have been supporting people to become leaders and helping them with their challenges up to the executive level and with growing personally and methodically in the process. Whether supporting young talents or working with high-ranking decision-makers, I am motivated to explain new perspectives, to convey state-of-the-art leadership methods, and to help talents and managers to make the right decisions for their career or team.

Both with regard to consulting and the delivery of training and diagnostic procedures, my customers appreciate my ability to adapt to different target groups and to create added value for participants, line managers, and the company through my expertise, clear opinions, and trusting cooperation.

In my roles as a consultant, trainer, and psychologist, it is important to me to make a difference at a personal level, even in the age of digitalization, and to inspire people with the topic of leadership.

My expertise for you

- Design and delivery of training programs, Assessment Centers, Development Centers, and Management Audits at the executive level
- Design and delivery of training measures on the topics of leadership, communication, and aptitude diagnostics
- Consulting on the introduction of personnel development processes (including talent identification, 360° feedback and recruiting processes)

Special skills

- Degree in Psychology
